Read the following passage and answer questions 31-40

Along time ago, hare and crocodile were friends. They lived together in a hut which was in a valley. They did everything together. There was a big farm which they both owned. In the farm, they planted maize, yams, beans, millet and sweet potatoes.

The hare and the crocodile were very hardworking. Everyday, they could wake up at five o'clock in the morning to go to the farm. The other animals like the lazy tortoise were very jealous of the hare and the crocodile. They wanted their friendship to end.

One day, the tortoise went to visit the crocodile. When he met the crocodile he told him that he had heard that hare wanted to kill him. And the reason was for the hare to remain with the big farm alone. When crocodile heard this, he became very sad. He believed that hare was not a good friend. The following day, the crocodile went to the farm and harvested all the crops in the farm. He then left to go and live in a certain river that was far away from where they lived. Since that day, crocodile lives in rivers.
